Rout on Wall Street

Major tech stocks were sold off on concerns that China's AI startup DeepSeek whose latest model is being compared to OpenAI and Microsoft Corp could present a threat to tech giants. The USD was sold along with the UST yields yesterday and JPY and CHF were key beneficiaries of this overnight move due to their sensitivity to the swings of the UST yields. Into Asia, some of the overnight action was reversed in light of Scott Bessent's confirmation as Treasury Secretary by the Senate. He will push for universal levies that would start at 2.5% which may rise to 20% according to FT. The latest development lifted 10y yield back to levels around 4.55%. Key level is seen around 4.50%. Eyes are on the Fed decision on Wed night (into Thu at 3am SGT/KLT). The Fed is about to pause for the first time in the current easing cycle. There is little to be expected from this decision. BoC is expected to ease policy rate by 25bps tomorrow while ECB will do the same on Thu. Both cuts are well priced based on the swaps market.

RBI Injects Liquidity

RBI announced plans to inject about US$18b of liquidity to ease a crunch in their banking system that arose largely from aggressive FX intervention. Liquidity shortfall is estimated to be about 3 trillion rupees and the planned liquidity injection will take place via OMO purchases of bonds (US$6.9b), FX swaps (US$5b) and repos (US$5.8b). This large shortfall due largely to intervention shows that Governor Sanjay is perhaps not letting go of the reins on the INR as much as some might suggest. We see RBI potentially cutting rates at their next meeting (7 Feb) to align with their current neutral stance especially if disinflationary path progresses.

G10 Currencies

- DXY Index - Finding tentative Foothold. The DXY index touched a low of around 106.96 overnight before gapping up this morning. The overnight action was reversed in light of Scott Bessent's confirmation as Treasury Secretary by the Senate. He will push for universal levies that would start at 2.5% which may rise to 20% according to FT. The latest development lifted 10y yield back to levels around 4.55%. Key level is seen around 4.50%. That could allow DXY index to find tentative foothold, last printed 107.70. There is a slight shift in tone from here. Thus far, Trump has been using tariffs as a means to an end - a leverage on negotiations. However, Scott's Bessent's push for universal tariff suggests that tariffs are also meant to be a revenue source for the treasury. This could mean little room for negotiations and simply growth negative. Looking forward, we also watch how Trump tries to get Mexico and Canada to renegotiate the USMCA, China to talk about fentanyl flow, things are in the works for Trump's border controls. DXY index show signs of rising back above. Resistance at 108.80 before the next around 110.10. Week ahead has Dec. prelim. Durable goods orders and Conf. board consumer confidence (Jan) on Tue. Into Thu, Fed decides on policy at 3am (SGT/KLT), GDP (4Q adv.), weekly jobless claims are due thereafter. Fri has Dec personal income, spending and core PCE.

- EURUSD - Lower. EURUSD was last seen at 1.0449 levels, turning lower ahead of ECB and Fed decision. Pair had risen amid broader USD weakness as Trump has appeared to be less focused on tariffs. Rise could also be due to stretched shorts. In addition, Trump had said to add Russia sanctions if there were no talks on Ukraine. Trump mentioned EU tariffs on US goods being unfair and had an overarching message that tariffs would be imposed on goods not produced in America. Still, the divergent monetary policy outlooks and the political uncertainties surrounding the French and the German should continue to weigh on the EURUSD. However, back-to-back rate cuts for Jan, Mar and Apr are well priced based on OIS. On the EURUSD chart, the next support is seen at 1.0427 (50dma). The falling wedge is still in play and stochastics continue to rise from oversold conditions. Rebounds to meet resistance at 1.05 figure. Data this week includes Dec Money Supply (Wed), 4QA GDP, Dec Unemployment Rate, Confidence Indices, ECB Policy Decision (Thu) and 1Y/3Y ECB CPI Expectations (Fri).

- GBPUSD - Steady, rebound looks capped. GBPUSD was last seen around 1.2460 levels with the rebound looking likely capped by the 50dma at 1.2524 levels. GBPUSD is still at risk of two-way trades given markets' doubts on the UK growth prospects. Eyes are on Chancellor of the Exchequer Rachel Reeves and how she will deal with the rising borrowing costs due to higher gilt yields. She had mentioned that her fiscal rules (self-imposed) were non-negotiable. There have been some concerns that the rise in the gilt yields have taken up the fiscal headroom and may force the labour-led government to reduce spending ahead of a fiscal update from the OBR on 26 Mar. The prospect for further cut in fiscal spending weigh on risk appetite and the GBP. In addition, data has been underwhelming these include 3Q GDP, Mfg PMI and net consumer credit. Back on the cable chart, rebounds to meet resistance at 1.2524. Support at 1.2400. Data this week includes BRC Shop Price Index (Tue), Dec Consumer Credit, Dec Money Supply (Thu), Jan UK Mfg PMI and Jan Nationwide House Px Indices (Fri).

- USDCHF - Rising Wedge, Bearish risks. USDCHF was slightly lower at 0.9040. This appears to be a reversal from overbought conditions and may extend towards the next support around 0.8978. With the USD in a corrective mode (lower), USDCHF may move lower from here towards 0.9070 (21-dma) before the next support is at 0.8940. Resistance is the 0.9220. Of the traditional safe-havens, it does seem that gold and CHF retain most of the safe-haven properties, with the JPY being pressured by yield differentials. Safe-havens could be better supported on heightened volatility and uncertainty.

- USDJPY - Yo-Yoing Lower. The pair touched a low of 153.72 before rising back to levels around 155.50. Pair was pressured when UST yield dropped yesterday but has found foothold around the 50-dma (155) as we write. There could be some two-way trades for now. Scott Bessent's push for universal tariffs that could start at 2.5% and rise to 20% lifted UST yields and the broader USD. Back on the chart, key support levels are 155.00 and 150.00. Resistance is at 160.00 and 162.00. Week ahead has Tokyo CPI for Jan on Fri, Dec retail sales and prelim. IP.

- AUDUSD - Play the Range. AUDUSD was last seen around 0.6260, albeit still within the 0.6130-0.6315 range. This pair is overbought and the mini rising wedge has been broken out and this pair may continue to trade within range, as we have forewarned. Weaker Jan PMI prints from China likely have weakened the pairing and latest reignition of universal tariff talks do not help in the least. Support is seen around 0.6210 before 0.6130. We remain bearish on the currency for 1H 2025 as trade frictions between the US and China could still impact Australia's resource exports and RBA could risk cutting more than expected. Since the last trade war in 2018, non-commercial positions of the AUD has hardly been in net long. Further signs of de-coupling between Australia's traditional ally and biggest trading partner could hurt AUD sentiment this year. Data-wise, NAB business survey for Dec is due Tue. Wed has 4Q CPI and Fri has PPI for 4Q.

- NZDUSD - In Tandem with the AUD. NZDUSD softened alongside fellow antipodean, last seen around 0.5670. Support is seen at 0.5540 before the next at 0.5510. Bullish momentum is waning and the pair is overbought. Break of the 50-dma at 0.5720 is required for further bullish extension but that resistance could remain intact. Markets have priced in 120bps cut for RBNZ. Soft inflation report might have nudged markets towards more cuts. Aggressive rate cuts vs. the Fed's expected trajectory continue to weigh on the NZDUSD. We continue to look for NZD to outperform AUD as dovish trajectory of the RBNZ for 2025 is sufficiently priced while markets are only starting to price in more rate cuts by RBA. Even with soft inflation report from the NZD and strong AU labour report, still look for AUDNZD to head towards 1.0970 (200-dma) before the next at 1.0880.

- USDCAD - Range intact for now. USDCAD rose this morning and was last seen around 1.4390, still within the 1.43-1.4450 range that has held since early Dec. The rounding top is intact for now but the pair seems to be regaining bullish bias, possibly due to the anticipation of more trade frictions with the US with Trump in charge. He has threatened to impose tariffs on Canada on 1st Feb. Support around 1.4385 could bring the pair towards 1.43 and then at 1.4180 (50-dma). Resistance at 1.4450 before 1.4668 (2020-high). Week ahead has industrial product price for Dec on Wed. Thu has Nov retail sales. Potential successors to Trump have vowed to retaliate to tariffs dollar-for-dollar and Trump responded that the US does not need oil, gas, vehicles or lumber imports from his allies to the north.

- Gold (XAU/USD) - Technical Pullback Possible on Double Top. Gold softened this morning, $2740, vulnerable to a technical pullback given the double top formation near record highs of around $2790/oz. That said, gold may remain supported on dips by a combination of news on more tensions between the US and Colombia/Brazil as the latter countries called out Trump for treating migrants like criminals. The fall in UST yields could also buoy. The double top formation could open the way for the gold to come off towards 2700 before 2600 and then at 2540. Better levels to accumulate.

Asia ex Japan Currencies

SGDNEER trades around +0.96% from the implied mid-point of 1.3620 with the top estimated at 1.3348 and the floor at 1.3893.

- USDSGD - Lower on Trump dialling back on China tariffs, even as MAS eases. USDSGD was last seen relatively steady at 1.3490 levels, earlier move lower came as Trump dialled back on China tariff threats, saying that he does not want to use them unless necessary. MAS eased for the first time since 2020 last Fri and the market reaction has been rather muted – a possible indication that this move was expected. The move looks to be one that is calculated to be a tad more growth supportive while continuing to hold the reins on inflation. The trade-weighted SGDNEER is at +0.96% above the mid-point this morning and looks to remain supported in line with our expectations. We expect that SGD could be sheltered given the correlation of SG/US rates. Moreover, Singapore is unlikely to be singled out by the US for additional tariffs given that it has a bilateral trade deficit with the US. Regional safe-haven properties are also likely to be supportive for the SGD. MAS policy continues to be supportive of SGD strength and we look for the resilience to continue even with this easing. We do not expect SGDNEER to weaken too much further even with MAS easing (slight slope reduction). In the medium-term, we remain positive on the SGD given robust macro fundamentals and a monetary policy that has an appreciating currency as a default stance. Resistance at 1.3500 and 1.3600. Support at 1.3400.

- SGDMYR - Slightly higher. SGDMYR was last seen slightly higher at 3.2533 levels this morning as SGD outperformed the MYR on the back of news that new Treasury Secretary Bessent supports a 2.5% minimum global tariff. Cross has come off recent high of 3.3162 (21 Jan). Resistances at 3.28 followed by 3.31. Support at 3.25.

- USDMYR - *Higher. Pair was last seen higher at 4.3898 as it continued to hold below the 4.4500 mark. Trump dialing back on potential tariffs with China seems to be benefitting the MYR more than other Asian currencies. As it stands, external developments as a whole remain the main focus for the MYR especially those related to the US and China. We do note domestic fundamentals are strong (robust growth, strong investment interest and pick-up of inflation, which lead to less easing pressure on BNM) and acts as a support for the currency. Back on the chart, resistance at around 4.5300 and 4.6300. Support as mentioned at at 4.4500 before the next at 4.3600. Meanwhile, Dec CPI was at 1.7% YoY (est. 1.8% YoY, Nov. 1.8% YoY) whilst 15 Jan foreign reserves at $115.5bn (prior. $116.2bn).

- 1M USDKRW NDF - *Steady. 1M USDKRW NDF was last seen steady at 1437.18 after falling on Trump's comments that he would rather not have to use tariffs on China. President Yoon has been indicted, and elections will need to be held within 60 days should he be removed from office. However, there remains plenty of concerns for the KRW. The political situation is highly uncertain and a Gallup Korea poll is now showing that the ruling People's Power Party support rating has risen to 39% from 34% and now surpasses that of the opposition Democratic Party. There also remains risks that the BOK could cut rates in the coming months given the economic concerns. We see markets are likely to stay cautious too and so are we too amid these concerns on the KRW. For near term, we are watching how both the political and Trump tariff developments pan out. Back on the chart, resistance is at 1440 with the next level after that at 1460. Support is at 1415. 4QA GDP came in slightly worse than expected at 1.2% YoY (exp: 1.4%; prev: 1.5%) and 2024 A GDP was also off expectations at 2.0% YoY (exp: 2.1%; prev: 1.4%).

- USDCNH - *Range-Trade Within 7.21-7.30? Focus for the yuan is on domestic data. USDCNH may still continue to trade within 7.21-7.30 given that Trump has been taking a softer approach with China at this point after issuing the executive order to delay the ban on tiktok and suggesting a mere 10% tariff earlier this week. His latest comments on "rather not have to use tariffs on China"' suggest his reluctance to do so and markets are likely to reduce bets on tariffs right now. USDCNH may continue to trade under 7.2960 for now. Tariffs are still likely and the Key dates to watch 1 Feb, 1 Apr. Trump has a more experienced and prepared team compared to his first term. While Trump's comments on tariffs post inauguration turned out to be a little less combative than expected, we note that he issued a Memorandum on America's First Trade Policy (AFTP) memo that directed executive departments and agencies to issue reports to him by 1 Apr on action the new administration could take to address specific international trade problems. Section 3 of the memo was dedicated to the economic and trade relations with China and the United States Trade Representative (USTR) is tasked to review the Economic and Trade agreement, assess China's compliance to the agreement and to recommend appropriate actions based on the findings including the imposition of tariffs or other measures as needed. The USTR is also tasked to assess the 14 May 2024 report "Four-Year review of actions taken in the Section 301 investigation" to consider additional tariff modifications as needed under section 2411 of title 19 United States Code. Secretary of Commerce and the USTR also tasked to assess the legislative proposals regarding Permanent Normal Trade Relations with the PRC and make recommendations regarding any proposed changes to such legislative proposals. Reports on section 3 along with most others in the Memo shall be delivered as a unified report coordinated by the Secretary of Commerce by 1 Apr 2025. More recently, Trump has mentioned about considering a 10% tariff on China by 1 Feb for China's fentanyl flows to Mexico and Canada. Markets are likely hoping that the Secretary of Commerce Howard Lutnick's plenty of businesses interests in China may mean a less hostile outcome in terms of tariffs on China. We watch if the USDCNH can break above the 7.2960 (50-dma). If not, range-trading could continue within 7.21-7.30 range.

- USDVND - Out for the week. USDVND was last seen around 25080. This pair seems to have come off rather precipitously ahead of Tet. We cannot rule out that there could be some invisible hands to ensure that VND will not be scrutinized for its huge trade surplus with the US and at risk of being labelled as a currency manipulator. USDCNY stability recently might also have given room for the USDVND to fall as well. Support at 25325 is already broken and the next is seen around 25030 and 24775. Recall that PM Pham Minh Chinh said that Vietnam is working "on solutions" to rebalance its trade surplus with the US by buying Boeing planes and other American high-tech items. Trump remains rather silent on Vietnam and with Vietnam pro-actively trying to re-balance their trade surplus, there is a good chance for VND to outperform this year. Last Fri, US Secretary of State Marco Rubio encouraged Vietnam to address its trade imblanaces with the US in a call with Foreign Minister Bui Thanh Son.

- 1M USDIDR NDF - Sideways, Cautious. 1M USDIDR NDF was last seen at 16202, slightly lower than yesterday's levels. We do not rule out some limited move downwards can happen for 1M USDIDR NDF if the broad dollar does pullback further although we remain cautious on the 1M USDIDR NDF at the same time amid the ongoing uncertainty regarding Trump's trade and fiscal policies. A bounce back up can eventually occur again after some downwards move. Back on the chart, resistance is at 16500 (around 2024 high) and 16750. Support at 16200 and 15800. There are no key data releases this week.

- 1M USDPHP NDF - Within Range, Cautious. The 1M USDPHP NDF was last seen at 58.47 as it continued to trade around recent ranges of 58.00 – 59.00. We remain cautious on the 1M USDPHP NDF given the ongoing uncertainty on Trump's trade and tariff policies although we do not rule out it coming lower if the broad dollar can pullback more. Background risks of BSP cut of 25bps in Feb is likely also sapping appetite for the PHP. Meanwhile, trade balance data out this morning remained in deficit at -$4136m (est. -$4870m, Nov. -$4852m). Back on the chart, resistance is at 59.47 (around the recent Dec high) and 60.60. Support is at 57.88 (200-dma) and 57.00. Key data releases this week include 4Q24 GDP and 2024 annual GDP (Thu).

- 1M USDINR NDF- Currency Flexibility. USDINR 1M NDF was last seen lower at 86.65 levels this morning. RBI Chief has hinted at some willingness to allow more flexible currency moves. The central bank announced plans to inject about US$18b of liquidity to ease a crunch in their banking system that arose largely from aggressive FX intervention. Liquidity shortfall is estimated to be about 3 trillion rupees and the planned liquidity injection will take place via OMO purchases of bonds (US$6.9b), FX swaps (US$5b) and repos (US$5.8b). This large shortfall due largely to intervention shows that Governor Sanjay is perhaps not letting go of the reins on the INR as much as some might suggest. We see RBI potentially cutting rates at their next meeting (7 Feb) to align with their current neutral stance especially if disinflationary path progresses. Resistance at 89.00. Support at 84.50 before the next at 84.00. Data releases this week include Dec Fiscal Deficit and 24 Jan FX Reserves (Fri).

- USDTHB - Sideways. Pair was last seen at 33.90, edging a tad higher alongside most USDAsians as it stayed around levels seen throughout yesterday. The mention of universal tariffs soured sentiment this morning. Falling gold prices and uptick in UST yields also weighed on the THB. USDTHB can find support at 33.35 before the next at 33.00. Rebounds to meet resistance at 34.30. Week ahead has Dec car sales due by tomorrow and Dec trade on Fri.
